Champagne and Wine

Champagne

2018 Piper-Heidsieck Brut Vintage, Champagne, France

Piper Heidsieck is one of the most recognizable and famous names in Champagne. Like many houses, much of their production is multi- or non-vintage; however, they also release a small quantity of vintage Champagne in the best years, reflecting the personality and growing conditions of a single season. The 2018 vintage is well-regarded, albeit an early-ripening year, and it successfully combines both quality and quantity. The wines at Piper Heidsieck are now made by the young and dynamic "chef de cave," Emilien Boutillat, who was named IWC Sparkling Winemaker of the Year in 2021. This vintage Champagne combines freshness with complexity and power—a top wine from a famous house in full renaissance mode.

2023 Mirabeau en Provence Coteaux d'Aix en Provence, France

Rosé wine has become so popular in France that it now threatens to overshadow red—unheard of! Leading this revolution is Provence, home to the French Riviera. While many Provence rosés promise more than they deliver—especially when a celebrity A-lister is involved—we've turned to the ancient town of Aix-en-Provence, far from the scorching Mediterranean beaches. This area is renowned for producing truly delicious wines of all colors. This Mirabeau rosé is fabulously fresh, with a scent of peaches and orange blossom. It manages to be both lively and indulgent, combining all the soft, dry pink fruit of the south with herbal notes and the gentle waft of orange grove breezes.

2022 Laroche Chablis Les Chanoines, Burgundy, France

Domaine Laroche is one of the oldest estates in the Loire Valley, established in 1850. The family's history, which dates back 1,000 years, is directly linked to Chablis. Laroche is also one of the most well-respected and largest landholders of Grand Cru vineyards in Chablis, with nearly 100 hectares in some of the region's best terroir. The Chablis Les Chanoines is a wonderful example of the Laroche family's approach to winemaking: it expresses the land from which the vines hail and achieves a harmonious balance between vibrant and subtle flavors, body, and fresh acidity. The 2022 Chablis is crisp, refreshing, and light-bodied, with nuanced layers of fresh herbs and citrus fruit. Extremely versatile, this wine pairs beautifully with most salad dressings and a wide array of fresh seafood dishes.

2022 J. de Villebois Touraine Sauvignon Blanc, Loire, France

Although J. de Villebois was only founded 20 years ago, the estate quickly gained the attention of wine lovers and critics with their vibrant, detailed Sauvignon Blanc. The Dutch founder of this estate, Joost de Villebois, is dedicated to crafting exceptional wines that accentuate the unique limestone and clay soils of Touraine. This white wine is a good example of the tension, vivacity, and generosity that the best Touraine Sauvignon Blancs are capable of offering. While remaining light bodied, the wine is fuller and rounder than their neighbours such as Sancerre. Enjoy the fresh grapefruit and green apple flavors buoyed by crisp acidity that linger on the palate.

OR

2023 Craggy Range 'Te Muna' Sauvignon Blanc, Martinborough, New Zealand

New Zealand is home to some of the world's most distinctive and expressive Sauvignon Blanc wines. Craggy Range was established in 1998 by entrepreneur Terry Peabody and his family in Hawkes Bay with the clear goal of becoming one of New Zealand's most famous wine producers. Craggy Range has certainly achieved this ambition and today own vineyards in both Marlborough and Hawkes Bay and have built an enviable global reputation for quality. Craggy's wines are made by talented winemaker Julian Grounds and his Martinborough Sauvignon Blanc is less herbaceous and more textured than those from the South Island yet with similar Sauvignon Blanc raciness and freshness.

Red

2020 Château Grand Moulin Macquin, Montagne-Saint-Emilion, Bordeaux

Château Grand Moulin Macquin is situated on the hilltop with eastern exposure, just a stone throw away from the village of St-Emilion. Since 1779, the Rambeaud family maintains a passion for working the land and the vine in particular. Purchased in 1948 by the grandfather of Francois Rambeaud, it has been family-owned for four generations. The wine is fine and seductive, with a very delicate hint of oak that reinforces the fruit and the terroir. Superb exposure to the sunlight allows for an excellent maturation of the grapes and seeds, providing the basis for a very natural vinification.

2021 Fontanafredda Briccotondo Barbera, Piemonte, Italy

The Barbera grape is really one of the undiscovered jewels of Italian wine. We definitely should drink more of it! Barbera is the most widely planted red grape in northwest Italy - home of world-famous wines like Barolo and Barbaresco - and there's a reason for that. The wine it makes is so utterly drinkable and goes brilliantly with the fantastic local cuisine. Wines like Barolo and Barbaresco are famously tannic and chewy, but Barbera is famous precisely because it isn't tannic or chewy - it's wonderfully fruity with an almost white wine kind of fresh acidity which is ridiculously appetising. Fontanafredda is one of the leading wine estates in Piedmont, once owned by Italy's first King, but now better known for being in the vanguard of organic grape growing. This Barbera is crisp and juicy, cranberry and redcurrant acid mouth-wateringly married with ripe plum fruit with just a hint of cherry stone scented bitterness.

Cockburn's 10 Years Old Tawny Port

Cockburn's 10 Years Old Tawny Port is a delightful expression of this classic fortified wine, renowned for its rich history and craftsmanship. With a perfect balance of sweetness and complexity, this tawny port showcases a beautiful amber color, hinting at its years of aging in oak casks. The nose is filled with enticing aromas of dried fruits, nuts, and subtle spices, while the palate reveals layers of caramel, toffee, and a touch of oak. Ideal for sipping on its own or pairing with desserts and cheeses, Cockburn's 10 Years Old Tawny Port embodies the tradition and elegance of Portuguese winemaking
